

Realistic

In the future, I will be a lawyer. I will have a lot of money and food. Everyday I earn 50~90 dollars a day, I save up the money, but use some if I am low on food. I will marry a beautiful Korean woman with the cooking skills of an A+. Then I will get two children one boy and one girl, I will name the boy David Suh and the girl Michelle Suh. We will buy the latest car then a really new house!! I'll become a lawyer in the Supreme Court! Me and my family will move to Washington D.C. and have a good life. Then, when my children become adults and go and live somewhere else, my wife and I will go to Hawaii and have a vacation! Then return to Washington D.C. and live life with my wife. The years pass... then I die... (it's a normal part of life!)

Thank You!
